If the COVID-19 pandemic has taught us anything, it is appreciation of even the simplest pleasures in life: the freedom to explore new places, to be out in the fresh air and to exercise in the great outdoors.

When the coronavirus began spreading across our region last spring, shuttering our workplaces, our schools, our stores and our social gathering spots, many of us retreated like caterpillars into cocoons, unwilling to emerge for weeks.

Do you remember the eerie quiet of those first few days and weeks of our statewide shutdown? With most venues closed, we hunkered down inside our homes, glued to computers and TVs for news of the worsening pandemic.

As the case counts rose unabated, some of us lost livelihoods. Some of us lost friends and loved ones. We became stressed and irritable, anxious and argumentative.

But as the weather warmed and the infections and deaths plateaued, we began to reclaim some things we had lost as they again became available to us.

Among the first was the use of our wonderful system of county parks. And no wonder.

In our parks, distancing was easier than in confined spaces. The warming, open air made transmission of the virus less likely, and the chance to breathe free and to exercise was the perfect elixir to the stresses and anxieties of COVID. There were days when our biggest challenge was finding enough places to park as people streamed into our parklands after we unlocked the gates last April 20, almost a month after shutting them down.

Now in its 68th year, our Bucks County Parks and Recreation Department was wonderfully equipped to meet our needs, and remains so as we continue to step out of the pandemic’s shadow.

With eight county parks, an assortment of historical sites, trails, campsites, nature centers, pools and tennis courts, there is no shortage of things to do and see. With more than 9,000 acres of land for recreational activities, ours is the third-largest county parks operation in Pennsylvania.

Our programming is beginning to return, we are hiring for warm-weather seasonal work, and we look forward to seeing more of you once again hiking our trails, kayaking our lakes, or even swinging a fairway iron at our county-owned Oxford Valley Golf Course.

Please browse this guide for schedules of activities, information about rentals of cabins, campsites, pavilions, and boats; tennis offerings at Core Creek Park and Frosty Hollow Tennis Center; swimming at Oxford Valley Pool; and a range of offerings at our nature centers.

At the same time, we encourage everyone to be mindful that COVID-19 is still out there, and still a danger to the many among us who have yet to be vaccinated. Please see the outdoor etiquette tips on page 5 to help protect yourself and others against the spread of the virus in our parks.

In closing, we would be remiss if we did not recognize a man who is in great measure responsible for the excellence of our parks system. William Mitchell, our longtime Executive Director of Parks and Recreation, is retiring this April after almost 32 years at the helm.

In appreciation for Bill’s faithful service to our county and its parks system, we have named our Park Administration Building in his honor. This is only appropriate, as the name Bill Mitchell has become synonymous with quality parks in Bucks County. Please join us in wishing Bill much happiness in the years to come.

A New Outdoors Etiquette
To Reduce the Spread of COVID-19

Access to our parks and greenspaces matter more than ever for our mental and physical health. When going outdoors, please follow these tips to keep yourself, others, and our parks and greenspaces safe and healthy.

For Yourself and Others:
- Check First. Before you head out, check with your park owners and trail stewards on open/closed access. Pack what you need. Use the restroom at home. Most park facilities are closed.
- Be Considerate. Wear a mask to protect others, as recommended by state and federal authorities. Practice physical distancing of six feet or more between individuals. Be friendly.
- Avoid Risky Activities. Avoid activities that put you at greater risk of injury, as available help and rescue services may be limited.
- Notice Nature. Be more attentive to nearby wildlife activities and the emergence of spring than your electronic devices. Soak up the limited time you have with nature for its fullest benefit.

For Your Place:
- Avoid Playgrounds. Play structures cannot be maintained in sterile condition; it is best to avoid them entirely during this time.
- Avoid Overcrowding. If a parking lot is full, please go to another lot, or another park or trail. Making your own parking spaces damages the landscape.
- Leave No Trace. Please carry out everything you take in with you, including dog waste.
- No Fires, No Smoking. Springtime is Pennsylvania’s riskier wildfire season, and this spring follows a mild winter with less snowfall.

Henry Chapman Mercer (1856-1930) established the Moravian Pottery and Tile Works during the fall of 1898 in an effort to preserve preindustrial pottery traditions and to promote his ideas about making tiles by hand. Constructed of hand-mixed, poured-in-place concrete, the present Tile Works was built between 1911 and 1912 to replace an earlier structure that served as Mercer’s first tile factory.

Today, the Moravian Pottery and Tile Works is owned by the County of Bucks and is operated as a “working history” museum by the Department of Parks and Recreation, Division of Historic Properties. Our purpose is to preserve, collect, and interpret the significance of this National Historic Landmark. Since 1974, tile production has been reactivated and has remained a part of our public interpretation of the site. Reissued tiles are made in a manner similar to those originally created by Mercer. The Tile Works maintains a vast historic collection of original tiles, plaster molds, tilemaking tools, drawings, records and documents that tell the story of this important proponent of the American Arts and Crafts Movement.
Several county parks have wooded camping grounds where you may bring your own tent or camper and camp at a designated site. Fees are charged per person for group campsites, which accommodate 10 or more people. Prices range from $2.50/person to $30 for family site.
